EIGHTH ANNUAL

INSURANCE REGULATOR EDUCATION FOUNDATION (IREF) SYMPOSIUM

Friday, November 15, 2019 | 8:00 a.m. – 12:00 p.m.

Katten | 525 West Monroe Street | Chicago, IL

Technology continues to impact the insurance industry at an accelerating pace. Two huge issues disrupting insurance markets are the growth in insurtech firms, and the risk of cyber risks affecting insurers and their customers. The vast majority of insurtech firms partner with traditional insurers in enhancing their distribution and claims operations. The regulatory and public policy implications of insurtech impact the entire insurance industry. The Katie School of Insurance and Risk Management along with the Institutes Griffith Insurance Education Foundation work with IREF to bring you this special, non-partisan, non-advocative, thought-provoking morning of presentations and discussions on these two rapidly evolving topics of import to insurance practitioners and regulators.

PROGRAM

8:00 a.m.

InsurTech: Its Application and Regulatory Challenges

- Overview of insurtech space, including its potential and current questions and concerns of note
- Parametric insurance and insurtech use cases

11:00 a.m.

Cybersecurity Risk Management and Cyber Risk Insurance: A Primer for Public Policymakers

- Basics of cybersecurity risk management
- Examination of cyber risk insurance
- Public policy questions surrounding cybersecurity
